Mayor's State of the City address was almost presidential

Did I see the mayor's "State of the City" address on WLND or on Funniest Home Videos?

It was a hoot to see the mayor march up a white carpet to the deputy mayor on the podium. The only thing they were missing was a brass band playing "Hail to the Thief."

Caller advises all Westland chamber members to quit

I called several local chambers of commerce to find out who directed their operations. It seems as though the city of Westland's is the only one that is dictated by city hall.

That's a shame.

Everybody who is a member ought to quit.

Talks shows are demeaning to the mentality of America

My beef is with talk shows. I don't like them. They're demeaning to the mentality of America. Why don't they do something to put a block on these talk shows, or put them on late at night instead of when the little kids are home?

'Sound Off' ought to be in the Thursday 'Wayne Eagle,' too

I'm a Wayne resident. I'd like to know why we don't get "Sound Off" in the Eagle on Thursday when all other Wayne residents get it? And why don't we get all of our Wayne news in the Wayne paper when the other papers get Wayne news?

We want Wayne news. We don't want Van Buren, Canton and all the other places' news. You can't even put some of the Wayne "Sound Off's" in the Wayne paper. What's wrong? You afraid? Or are our you getting paid by the Wayne government not to print them?

This is a disgrace. You might as well leave the city.

How come Wayne can't get Sound Off during the week? You're showing a lot of discrimination and you better wake up.

Reader has right numbers

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Once Stephen Carroll of Romulus saw his telephone number listed in the Romulus Roman last week, he knew he would win the listed $1,000 prize.

And sure enough, Carroll said Monday -- he wasn't that surprised Monday, when he was informed that he was the first winner in a series of eight weekly contests.

Carroll who has lived in Romulus for the past 14 years and works in a Novi stripping plant said "the win couldn't have come at a better time for his family."

"We just began some interior spring cleaning efforts -- including the addition of new carpeting – so that $1,000 will really come in handy," Carroll said.

Carroll, whose name appeared in the Pet Supplies Plus (of Canton) advertisement last week, quickly called the Michigan Community Newspapers switchboard and later his name was pulled as the overall winner out of 10 finalists.

This week and in six succeeding weeks MCN readers will have the same opportunity. First they must find their home phone number printed in an advertisement printed in the MCN and then call 729-4000 to register their name with the switchboard operator.

Next Monday a second $1,000 winner will be announced by MCN Publisher Michael Wilcox.

McNamara expects pro-casino forces to win out in Detroit

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara vowed that the three casinos will happen in Detroit, despite current efforts by those in religious circles to place the issue back on the state ballot this fall.

He told about 60 persons attending the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce luncheon on Tuesday that anti-casino backers may get the casino question back on the ballot in November.

But he then would expect the casino professionals to stage one of the largest public relations efforts ever to convince residents that casinos are the right thing for Metro-Detroit.

Edward McNamara

Meanwhile visiting United Methodist Pastor Thomas Grey, a national anti-casino leader, was in the area this week trying to spur forces to make sure that the needed 248,000 voter signatures could be obtained by the late May deadline.

But McNamara spent the greatest amount of his speech on the benefits to the area obtained from Detroit Metro Airport, as well as nearby Willow Run Airport.

The area is already seeing benefits from being the only U.S. airport with daily flights to China, McNamara said. Businessmen seeking to do major business in China are seeking to open offices or other buildings here rather than in Atlanta or other locations around the U.S.

Weapon hearings continue

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The second in a series of public hearings on issues surrounding the carrying of concealed weapons permitting in Wayne County was conducted Wednesday at the Old Wayne County Building on Randolph street in Detroit.

Earlier Wayne County Commissioner Bruce Patterson (R-Canton) had introduced a resolution asking for such an investigation to collect data, assemble witnesses and obtain information on such CWW situations in other Michigan counties and throughout the U.S.

The hearing is being conducted by the county's public safety and judiciary committee, of which Patterson is vice chairman.

Information on the hearing will be printed in next week's Romulus Roman newspaper. For further information call Bob Wheaton, Patterson's legislative liaison, at 313-224-0944.

Wheaton revealed Monday Patterson is seeking to learn whether area residents want to tighten or loosen CCW regulations in Michigan, or to keep them as they are at present.

He said at the present Michigan's CCW regulations are extremely strict.

Wheaton said a future hearing could be held in the evening hours, if there appears to be any interest in such a time period for such a session.

Accused killer could now face death penalty

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Will the alleged killer of the late Romulus High School track star Everisto Duane Bosley face the death penalty?

That awaited decision will come soon from U.S. Attorney General Janet Reno, local authorities said Monday.

Mr. Bosley -- the father of two young sons -- was slain early in the morning of Nov. 14, 1996, while he was working as an unarmed ATM repairman outside a Comerica Bank branch at Northwestern and 13 Mile road in Farmington Hills.

Mr. Bosley's athletic career style was praised shortly after his death by his former coach Al Wilkerson, currently a counselor at Romulus Middle School.

Wilkerson said shortly after Mr. Bosley's death that the late track star led by example while serving as a role model for younger Romulus athletes.

"He wasn't a holler guy. But he was always the first to arrive for practice and the last to leave," Wilkerson said. "He was just an outstanding young man, who we thought would later excel at track in college...but instead decided to enter the U.S. Marines."

Mr. Bosley's image was so strong at track side, Wilkerson said, that he served as the team's captain in his senior year (1989).

Wilkerson said Bosley's close friends in Romulus didn't remember him by his first name, since he was usually called Duane. "Because of that we didn't get to his funeral...a situation we still feel are sorry about."

Wilkerson, who was on spring break last week, said he first learned about the murder charges being filed via a car radio broadcast.

Ironically the murder defendant, Antonio McKelton, formerly of Southfield, was arrested over a year ago for a series of Oakland County jewelry store heists. The gun later identified as the Bosley murder weapon reportedly bearing McKelton's finger print was later found in a vehicle used as a getaway car during the series of jewelry holdups.

Finally a federal grand jury had to be formed to handle the investigation and last week federal and state authorities unsealed an indictment that charges McKelton with killing the unarmed ATM worker.

Authorities were quoted as saying McKelton's image was so fearsome that – even though he was behind bars -- they were not able to get enough information to file a charge in the murder until recently.

Finally a federal grand jury had to be formed to handle the investigation and last week federal and state authorities unsealed an indictment that charges McKelton with killing the unarmed ATM worker.

Farmington Hills Police Chief William Dwyer speaking at last week's press conference said "Bosley was an unarmed service technician, who was viciously ambushed without provocation."

McKelton was sentenced last February to six years in prison for one of the jewelry heists.

He now faces a possible death sentence on the federal murder charge.

Mr. Bosley left behind two young sons, Derrien Hall, now 2, and Everisto Duane Bosley Jr., now 4.

5 police units team up to catch drunk drivers

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Okay Red Wing fans and other party-goers -- local police departments will have patrol officers working overtime to take drunk drivers off the main highways in western Wayne County.

Romulus Executive Lt. Eric Painter said five area police units are teaming up to make I-94 and I-275 safer as they target potential intoxicated drivers for removal from the highways.

The police team include those in Allen Park, Romulus, Van Buren and Huron Townships and Michigan State Police's Metro South Post and will press actions from 10 p.m. to 4 a.m. on selected dates.

The police departments will pay for the overtime officers via a $15,000 grant from the Office of Highway Safety Planning.

Ten such overtime officers will be supplied during those critical traffic periods (such as last night's Red Wing home opener.) Three will come from Romulus and Van Buren Police Departments, two from the state police and one each from Huron and Allen Park.

"We want the Red Wing fans to enjoy the playoff excitement. But will not let it extend to drinking and driving," Painter said.

Eight other similar dates will be set up in the future from now until the end of August, Painter said.

"We want the Red Wing fans to enjoy the playoff excitement. But will not let it extend to drinking and driving."

Blue ribbon gardener arrested for weedy yard

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

A flower to one may be a weed to another – especially to a Westland ordinance officer, whose taste in plants meant jail for blue ribbon gardener Walter Warren, who was handcuffed, arrested, and temporarily jailed Monday for allegedly violating the city's weed ordinance.

"My English garden won 33 ribbons at the Michigan State Fair," said Warren. "For that I got my sorry butt in jail with drunks and who knows what. In any other community, my garden would've received compliments or recognition from the city council."

He said he won eight blue ribbons, including awards for best Hungarian pepper, best scallop squash, and best buttercup squash.

"Master gardeners would find my garden amazing," he continued. "But you can't explain this to an ordinance officer who only knows grass and shrubs, and who thinks that gourd plants are rampant weeds and that grapevines are uncontrolled growth.

"It's not a violation just because you don't like a plant."

Monday evening, Warren appeared at the city council meeting, demanded an apology from the council and Mayor Bob Thomas, and said that he plans to sue Thomas for alleged false arrest and alleged false imprisonment.

"Stand in line," countered Thomas, who blamed Warren for the arrest and said that he would never apologize.

"You had a couple of violations that you knew about and failed to appear in court. When that happens, you get arrested," Thomas said.

Warren had been cited in January for yard debris, and the mayor thought that the citation was justified.

"No one would want to live next door to your backyard," said Thomas, who asked Warren for permission to show pictures of his yard on the city's cable TV channel.

"You seem to know a lot about my yard," said Warren, who advised the mayor to spend more time defending lawsuits against the city.

Warren to the Eagle that he plans to sue the council for malfeasance and misfeasance for not setting up an appeal board for building ordinance violations under the BOCA code, which the city adopted without setting up an appeal board as called for in the code.

"You adopted the whole code, you can't just use the part that says you can put people in jail," he said.

Warren speculated that he was arrested because he was "an easy target."

He said, "I have opposed their taxes for years. This was selective enforcement of the building code."

He also said that cultivated plants are legal under the code.

Council did not respond.

Not so advanced life support

Long walk for heart attack victim

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

"My wife had a heart attack and the fire department made her walk to the God damn ambulance,"

Bob Boettger told the city council. "I'm mad she had to go through it."

"I don't know anything about this," said Pat Harder, assistant fire chief. "It's not standard protocol."

At City Council President Sandra Cicirelli's request, Harder said he would find out what happened.

According to Boetter, his wife Carol, who had previously complained to council about severe flooding problems created by a poorly engineered city street, had a heart attack last week. Paramedics rushed her to Annapolis Hospital. However, she was moved to Oakwood, where surgeons cleared a blockage in her heart.

But Bob Boettger complained about Westland's paramedics, who recently added Advanced Life Support services.

"They made here walk out in the cold," he said, his voice trembling, his eyes dropping tears. "All they had to do was move a living-room chair and lamp and put her in a gurney. . . . I'm not going to pay for the ambulance."

Harder left the meeting with Boetter and assured him that he would find out what happened.

Big wigs clean bathrooms at award-winning local business

Vice president of marketing and education for Fantastic Sams, Jim Davis, readies himself with a clothes-pin to the nose to clean the bathrooms at Rawsonville Roads Salon. In the background is president Jim McPhee. The two were there to honor the local salon as its top retailer world-wide.

By DON RICHTER
MCN Special Writer

The president of Fantastic Sams' corporate headquarters armed himself with rubber gloves and a toilet brush Tuesday when he arrived in Belleville to clean the bathrooms of the Rawsonville Road salon.

The salon earned this special visit by being the top retailer among 1300 Fantastic Sams internationally during a franchise-wide promotion earlier this year.

The reward for being the top retailer was having Jim McPhee, president of the business and Jim Davis, vice-president of marketing and education, make a visit to the award-winning salon and clean their bathrooms.

"Our fantastic stylists really excelled during this promotion and it's exciting to see their enthusiasm appreciated this way," said Tony Fry, owner of the Rawsonville Road salon.

"It's rare when you see corporate officers go to these lengths to reward employees and to do it in such a fun, lighthearted way has made this a real lively day in our salon, "Fry added.

The 17 member salon team also was treated to a pizza party during the visit. In addition, the stylists won cash and prizes from the international promotion that featured the retailing of FS Hair Care products.

"It's truly a privilege to recognize the outstanding efforts of all the stylists in Tony's salon," McPhee said.

Schools entrenched in Belleville history

By SABRINA SHAW
MCN Special Writer

According to Samuel Robbe in his book, History of Van Buren Township (1930), the first school in the township was the Kittle School, located between Abraham Soop's and Scott Vining's cabins on Cemetery Road (now Denton) leading to the Soop Cemetery.

The first school in Belleville is believed to be a woodshed near the north end of Liberty Street. Soon, however, a better building was built in 1839 on Charles Street at the corner of High Street. The building was later moved to Main Street, where the Museum now stands, and was used as a cabinet shop.

The school that replaced it was a three-story brick structure built in 1867 on Third Street where the Oakwood Health Center now stands. This building was known as the Belleville High School, although it housed all grades.

In 1903, a few days before graduation in June, the building was struck by lightening and completely burned out. Only the brick walls were left standing. Graduation was held at the Methodist Church, as it usually was because it had the best seating capacity in town.

Work was begun immediately on a second building at the same site. It was similar to the old building, but a bit more decorative. Education continued at this site from 1904 with an auxiliary building added in 1917 to accommodate increased enrollment, until consolidation.

Consolidation then became the issue with much bitterness and a court battle to settle the issue. Farmers believed that a group in Belleville wanted a new building with the cost spread on the farm tax rolls.

A new building was built on West Columbia Avenue and another on Denton. The Denton School opened in November 1926 and the Belleville School in March 1927.

A section of the Belleville School burned with the loss of the second and third floors in January of 1953. The school building had already been enlarged by that time and since the fire it has been added on by building onto its front as well as an auditorium and other additions at the rear. A separate administration building was built on the same grounds.

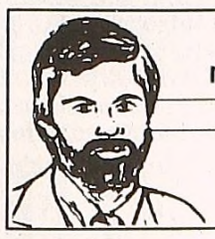
Stranded at Metro is the pits



Mike's musings

Mike Wilcox

I've always watched with interest the television reports that depict stranded passengers in Metro Airport. Sometimes you see these poor people, victims of cancelled flights, laying discontently on their carry-on bags, attempting to get sleep in a strange airport.

Last Sunday, I didn't have to watch. I was one of the victims.

Northwest flight 442 was scheduled to leave for Orlando at 6:55. Four hours later it was cancelled and three hundred passengers were told to find another way to their destination. I was one of the lucky ones - I could go home to a warm and familiar bed. But for many others it was a night of desperation.

I felt sorry for several travelers from Amsterdam. After a seven hour flight, a four hour delay, they were now told to find accommodations and reschedule their flight. These poor people, some who could speak only spotty English, were left to deal with a situation, that was not their making, in a strange area, Detroit.

A student group from Gainesville, Florida had become oh so familiar with Northwest Airline's problems. The group having arranged a European trip for their Easter vacation, were stuck in Detroit on their way to Amsterdam. That's bad enough. But again, it happened on the way back. There they were sprawled out on the terminal floor waiting for a flight back to attend school the next day. It never happened.

For some of us the situation wouldn't have been so bad if Northwest had treated it's customers with courtesy and respect. The customer service representative admittedly did a decent job of keeping everyone informed about the delay. First the plane hadn't arrived in Minneapolis, let alone Detroit. Then when it did arrive in Minneapolis the cargo door wouldn't open. That was fixed and it made its way to Detroit. But after the passengers were unloaded at Metro an electrical problem was announced.

At about the three hour mark many of the passengers began to get restless. Tension heightened when the pilots and crew for the plane walked out of the gate area, presumably headed to a hotel because their time for the day (whatever that means) had expired. Soon after an announcement was made the flight was cancelled. Wayne County Sheriff's officers were escorted to the scene. Passengers began shouting, demanding refunds, and seeking hotel rooms.

Further announcements indicated all flights were full for Monday and it would be up to us to make new arrangements to get to Florida. We were told to go to the ticket office or call reservations. Secondly we were told all hotels in the Detroit area were full.

I found that hard to believe. Come on, this is Detroit on Sunday night. Occupancy at airport hotels hovers between 60 and 80 percent. When I insisted that the airline reps call some hotels they said, you call'em. On my way home I drove by several hotels and found hundreds of empty parking spaces, which to me is an indicator that there were plenty of rooms available. After our exchange, Northwest did find 98 rooms at a Ypsilanti hotel.

I went home. Next day when I called to make arrangements to proceed to Florida, I was told I was booked on a plane headed for Japan. It left at 5 p.m. Now, if my passport was current I might have boarded, but c'mon Northwest, my original ticket was from Detroit to Orlando. Orlando, they said....well then we have no seat availability until late Tuesday. I could live with that, but I pity the poor people on vacation. I pity the poor people from Amsterdam.

The Sunday night cancellation is a prime example of poor customer service, the major problem Northwest Airlines faces in Detroit. Most of us can understand the rapid growth, the half hour delays, the 50 year-old airport and all the problems that those items create. We can't, however, understand the lousy customer service that permeates through the entire Detroit Northwest operation. In Sunday's Detroit newspaper and in this week's Crain's Detroit Business editorial writers were pleading with Northwest to become more customer friendly. After my bout with cantankerous, uncaring agents on Sunday, I strongly agree.

Hopefully the new Northwest chief in Detroit, Bob Ball can do what his predecessor Marilyn Rogers could not. Many in the industry say it is an impossible task. Northwest operations in Detroit have gotten too big, too fast and headquarters doesn't care to offer the support necessary to make major changes until the new midfield terminal is completed.

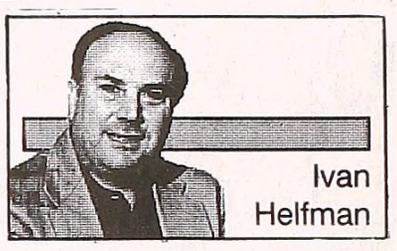
That can't happen. Northwest must priortize customer service in Detroit as job one. They must target their on-time numbers, currently the worst in the industry, as job two. And in situations like Sunday night, when a flight is cancelled they must have customer service represesentatives on hand to take care of their customers. Why not have an extra plane or two in Detroit to use when mechanical problems make it impossible to fly the gated plane? Ditto a crew. Pay a couple of crews to sit in Detroit as a backup if another crew has too much airtime on a particular day?

If Northwest can't achieve better customer service then the County needs to seek another partner. One cannot estimate the damage this type of incompetence is doing to this area's reputation. Many times air travelers judge an area on it's airport. Metro takes a back seat to most. But their judgment is further clouded by unfriendly, unhelpful Northwest employees. We don't need this.

A word to the wise. You better fix it, Northwest.

This to me was the perfect example of lousy customer service. I don't think any of us envisioned this kind of episode

Roughneck arrests are worse than petty crime



Ivan Helfman

With rising long-term violent crime rates, it isn't surprising that police have cracked down on brutal criminals.

But what I can't understand is why police have also cracked down on nonviolent people in their own homes.

Two good examples of police officers overdoing it occurred in Westland this week.

One was the arrest of master gardener Walter Warren for allegedly violating the city's weed ordinance.

Warren, who said that his plants won 33 ribbons at this year's state fair, was handcuffed and hauled away in front of his neighbors because the local ordinance officer considers Warren's gourd vines weeds.

Warren says they're cultivated plants.

Either way, why are police handcuffing him for growing plants that don't get you high?

It's debatable whether the government should regulate anybody's legal gardening, but it's not debatable whether a civilized government should handcuff growers of weeds. It shouldn't.

Another more debatable instance happened to a 19-year-old woman who slept in a bed next to a marijuana pipe.

Six raiding Westland police officers with a legal search warrant didn't find any dope on her when they woke her up, yet they maced her for resisting arrest, though sleeping near a pipe isn't an offense calling for an arrest.

Eventually the police found a bag of marijuana in the house, which belonged to someone else, and the owner was arrested along with the 19-year-old.

Does anybody else find this extreme?

While it makes perfectly good sense for police to ticket small marijuana users, why should police be empowered to wake somebody up and spray them with mace because they woke up on the wrong side of the bed?

While its illegal to smoke marijuana, I feel that it's worse for police to spray mace on somebody they've just rudely startled in their home.

A worse example of what I call roughhouse arrests occurred last Fall to a 60-year-old Westland woman who had been watching TV with a young biker in the privacy of her home. Police came to their door without a specific reason. Earlier the couple had been quarreling with their next-door neighbors, but so what? It was only an argument. Nobody was hurt.

Yet on that pretext, police knocked on her door.

The biker's mistake was to answer. He should've kept watching TV. However, he answered the wrong way and ended up in cuffs.

When she tried to help, she got her arms pinned in the gate. When she couldn't get them out, she was cuffed, too.

I lost track of this one when it got to court. But I don't need to know what the judge ruled. In my book, a couple ought to be able to watch TV in their own home in peace.

Judging by what I read in police reports, I'm not sure this is possible anymore in some communities.

Thanks a Million

WEEKLY SYNDICATED COLUMN by PERCY ROSS

Millionaire Percy Ross is known for his philanthropic work. He offers help and encouragement for those in need. He has earned a fortune and a wealth of knowledge during his lifetime and wants to share both. His motto: " He who gives while he lives... also knows where it goes. "

Finally Able To Travel The Straight And Narrow

Dear Mr. Ross: Today is the most important day of my life because I'm going to quit being a victim. I am no longer a punching bag for my ex-husband. I am no longer an empty vacuum that my stepfather can sexually abuse. I am no longer going to drown my sorrow in alcohol to the point of numbness and intoxication. After extensive psychological testing and counseling, I have been prescribed an anti-depressant, Prozac. The effect has been tremendous, but the cost is staggering because I have no medical insurance, yet.

Two weeks ago I got a job, thanks to a transitional program I underwent for skills and job placement. I don't qualify for insurance though until I've been here for 3 months. I'm determined to make a clean start. My apartment only has an old chair and table–no bed, TV or other comforts, but in time I'll change this. Right now what I need most is my medication. If you could help me with a 3 month supply, together we can say I made it back from a living hell.

Ms. P. A. ... The Times, Westlake, OH

Dear Ms. A.: Not only did you make it back, but I venture to say you won't be taking any detours or side trips in heading to your new destination. The determination you've displayed is reason alone for me to make an investment in your future. Let me know which Rite Aid store is most convenient in your area and I'll make arrangements so you can receive Prozac until your insurance kicks in. And as they say in Alcoholics Anonymous, "Welcome back to sanity and sobriety!"

Dear Mr. Percy: I'm a working mom who's a waitress and a darn good one. I believe in giving good service with a big smile. My problem is I'm afraid to smile for fear my 3 front teeth will fall out. My dentures broke over a year ago. I've been using super glue to hold them in place. It works for about 2 weeks, then I have to reglue them. My dentist claims they can't be fixed and that I'll need a new upper plate made. Between rent, food and clothes for my son and I, I just don't have the extra money. The cost is $279. I don't receive any kind of subsidy, because as long as I can work, I'm going to support myself. One last thing. I've had people say that using super glue could make me sick. What then?

Toothless ... The Gleanor, Henderson, KY

Dear Toothless: I wonder if the manufacturer of super glue knows of all the uses the product was never intended for. It reminds me of the story about the wife's husband who was having an affair. While he was asleep one evening she got her revenge by super gluing his penis to his abdomen. The end result was surgery, then divorce.

This has absolutely nothing to do with your upper plate, except to say $280 cold cash is on the way. I don't know how your blue plate special was in the past, but at least now you can suggest it with confidence.

Dear Mr. Ross: I'm a single mother of 7: 5 boys and 2 girls, ages 14, 13, 12, 8, 5, 3 and 5 months. My problem is not my children, it's transportation! A year ago I was on welfare. Now I have a job. I work at a nursing home making $7 an hour as a certified nursing assistant. I get up at 4 a.m. every morning. I leave my apartment at 5 a.m., so that I can push my 5 month old baby in the stroller to the babysitter and still get to work by 7 a.m. I'm asking for $1,200 so I can buy a used mini van. If not, I'll keep on pushing on until I have something to drive.

Ms. L. W. ... The Post, West Palm Beach, FL

Dear Ms. W.: Seven children and not even a mention of a father anywhere in your letter. How did you find yourself in this situation? I agree that transportation would ease your burden, but $1,200 for a mini van would be a poor investment on my part. Even if you got lucky with one that runs well, there is insurance, gas, oil, tabs and minor repairs. In other words, I'd just be giving you a $1,200 headache. Sorry, but your request has been given a thumb's down.

Oil prices could triple while Americans sleep

To the editor:

The mainstream media is totally preoccupied with whether or not Bill did it to Monica, while Americans are about to be blindsided by a global nightmare that will change their lives forever.

Around the year 2005, a unique event will occur: we will enter a new era of permanent resources scarcity as global oil production "peaks" and begins its inevitable and permanent decline.

Oil prices could quickly triple, sending shocks blasting through the global economy. Oil is used directly or indirectly in the manufacture of everything, so prices for all manufactured goods and food products will leap, and American families will be flattened!

In many ways, the next hundred years will look like a movie played backwards. As oil production declines, societies will "un-develop" with muscle replacing machinery, and bicycles replacing autos. Obviously, American standards-of-living will go into free-fall- permanently.

Although we have the best politicians money can buy, it's far too late to begin their education now. There is really nothing we can do to protect our families except to realize what's coming at us, and then do our best to survive.

See WWW.DIEOFF.ORG for a peek at your future. Then become close friends with your neighbors...because there's a limit to how far you can ride your bicycle.

Chamber should be singing praises

To the editor:

With respect to your article (week of April 16-22) "Chamber Rejects...", I offer this thought.

From the moment that Bob Thomas became Mayor Thomas, he began making Westland the place to be. Days after the 1989 election, Bob Thomas was in his office taking calls on Thanksgiving Day. In more recent times, Mayor Thomas has returned citizen calls at 10PM, apologizing for his being in meetings all day, and into the evening.

At one point in time, Westland Police had such out dated communication equipment that contacting an office via radio was difficult. Today, because of the vision of Mayor Thomas, new state of the art equipment is in place with more on the way, resulting in other cities requesting that Westland dispatch their patrol units.

So many improvements have occurred during the

Thomas years that residents are spoiled. At the first hint of leaves falling, or the signal of snow, citizens are upset if equipment is not on scene immediately. Much different than Detroit where the Mayor has for two years visited gaming halls nationwide, residents pay a personal income tax, surcharge on utilities, and for some, they have never seen a street light.

Visitors from around the country observe Westland with wide eyes upon seeing the new library, senior center, playscape, emergency alert system, ALS, tracking dogs that have alerted drug dealers to stay clear of Westland and many other features.

It is with sincere regret that the Westland Chamber of Commerce has not the time to prepare a video which could be aired in other communities showing the many fine properties immediately available for new business and new chamber members. Rather, they choose to conduct meet the candidate luncheons emulating meet the press or the Larry King show.

Slavery a problem in many places

To the editor:

Bill Clinton's trip to Africa is considered a success by the liberal groupies and collectivist hangers-on. But the President's arm around the shoulders, arm around the waist, and big toothy grin gambit didn't deter several excoriations by Communist Nelson Mandela when Clinton spoke about the misdeeds of Communist Fidel Castro.

Mandela reminded Clinton that Castro had been a friend for a number of years and insisted he would be a compatriot for years to come. Forget Castro's enslavement and povertization of Cuba, and the deaths of thousands. Mandela told Clinton to stifle and the President complied immediately.

Clinton tried a couple of anecdotes about Khadafy and Hussein, but once again, Mandela reminded the President that they were counted as his best friends. Clinton didn't get very far with suggestions that Khadafy has become infamous for his terrorism and killing; his recant of Hussein's gassing of Iranians and the Kurds in his own country found a deaf ear.

Clinton found he could speak and be listened to if he offered apologies. I'm not sure any apology was appropriate, but the slaughter of 800,000 in the Hutu-Tutsi four-year genocidic debacle did not have to happen. There are those in the world who could have and should have tried to cut short the killing, maybe even preclude the genocide altogether. But that's history.

What about the enslavement of woman and children in several of the African countries today?

Oh say can you sing!

Can you sing? Want to perform in front of a crowd and television cameras? Would you like to do your part to help honor the men and women who've given their lives in America's wars?

If your answers to these questions are all a big "yes," consider auditioning to become the singer at Dearborn's May 25th Memorial Day service. The person selected will perform The Star Spangled Banner during the service, which will be held at the Dearborn War Memorial at City Hall. This event is an annual Dearborn tradition, well-attended and covered by the media and CDTV3, our town's own cable television station.

If you're interested in auditioning, send your name, address, telephone number and details of any prior singing experience to Karen Sarb in the Citizen Resources and information Department, 13615 Michigan Avenue, Dearborn, MI, 48126-3586. You must send your information by Thursday, April 2.

Belleville off to sizzling baseball start

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Belleville's baseball team picked up where its basketball team left off - with its best start in recent years.

The Tigers began the week with an incredible 11-1 record as coach Pat Digman's club made it clear that they will be contenders in the tough Mega Conference Red Division this season.

"We have some talent on this team," said Digman, who started his third year as head coach. "But there is plenty of talent around the league this season."

Digman says that Monroe should have a powerhouse because last year's lineup appears intact, while Lincoln Park, Garden City and Southgate Anderson will not be pushovers."

Belleville launched the season with a 5-1 victory over Edsel Ford, then swept a twin bill from River Rouge, burying the Panthers 17-2 in the opener and they came back to edge their rivals 2-1 win in the nightcap.

Garden City fell to the Tigers, 3-1, and then Ypsilanti handed over two. The Tigers carved up the Braves 9-3 in the first game and swamped their crossover conference rivals, 13-2, in the second.

> We have some talent on this team, but there is plenty of talent around the league this season.
> - Pat Digman

Willow Run managed to hand the Tigers their first setback of the campaign. The Tigers won a 3-2 opener against the Flyers but lost a shocker, 5-4, in the second game of the doubleheader.

Westland John Glenn also had its problems with the Tigers. Coach Todd Duffield's ball club lost 5-3 and 8-7 to the Tigers in an out-of- conference twin bill.

The Tigers have got a solid pitching rotation thanks to returning lettermen Ryan Emery, Josh Brandon and Aaron LaPairie.

Emery, a southpaw, has gotten off to a 3-0 start. He's a junior LaPairie is carding a 2-0 record as the week begins while Brandon is looking for his first win. He's 0-1.

Three other Belleville pitchers - righthanders Nolan James, Greg Cullen and Shane Subbe - each has posted victories in their only starts.

Two other notables are shortstop B. J. Flaig, and junior outfielder Gary Linzell, who can really hit them out of the park.

Four Glenn errors against the Tigers led to the Rockets' demise. The Westlanders managed to blow a 3-0 lead when Belleville erupted for four runs in the bottom of the sixth to settle the issue.

Linzell drilled a pair of doubles to help the Tiger cause and hand reliever Brian Reed the loss. Dale Hays started for the Rockets and pitched a strong game, giving up one run, five hits and striking out seven before giving way to Reed.

Reed did not get the support of the defense as the Rockets committed two costly errors

Plymouth-Salem hurler Jason Lukasik prepares to unleash one of his pitches against nonconference rival, Fordson. Lukasik has problems against the Tractors who routed him in fourth inning, but teammate Scott Hays came in and silenced Fordson bats and picked up a big 9-7 victory.

It's Blevins, Leverenz then you 'pray for rain'

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

When it comes to his pitching rotation, says veteran Wayne Memorial coach Jim Chronowski, "it'll be Blevins and Leverenz, then pray for rain."

That's how Chronowski sees the season, the early phase of it, anyway.

"We lost a lot of talent to graduation last year," Chronowski said, "so we're in the rebuilding cycle. But we do have a pair of solid pitchers in C.J. Blevins and Charlie Leverenz, and if they can hold on during the early part of the season, our bats will come around in the latter stages."

Blevins picked up his and the team's first victory as Wayne split a doubleheader with natural rival, Westland John Glenn. After losing the opener 9-6 to the Rockets, Wayne took a 5-1 victory to snap a two-game losing streak.

Blevins, a southpaw, chalked up four strikeouts, walked two and gave up seven hits to the Rockets who scored their lone run in the bottom of the fifth.

Glenn's Josh Utley, a righthander, who pitched a strong game and gave up only one hit, was charged with the loss.

Nick Cicotte's bloop single over the pitcher's head in the sixth accounted for Wayne's only hit.

Wayne scored what proved to be the decisive run in the top of the third when Jeremy Overton walked and got to third on wild pitches. He scored on Blevins's slow-roller to third.

In the second inning, Wayne got on the board thanks to a walk to Cicotte, who advanced to second when Joe West was struck by a wild pitch. Derrick Townsend's grounder was misplayed, allowing Cicotte to score from third.

In the 9-6 loss, Wayne wasted a 2-0 lead as Glenn exploded for four runs in each of the fourth and fifth innings to salt away the decision.

Glenn's Todd Duffield started Mike Swafford, who worked the first 4 1/3 innings before yielding to righthander Brian Reed.

> The White Division has some excellent ball clubs. It isn't going to be an easy run for us.
> - Jim Chronowski

Reed got credit for the victory.

Loser Townsend and reliever Jon Bates gave up a total of 10 hits. Brian Miller collected two of those 10. He counted a double and a pair of RBIs for the afternoon. Teammate Chet Rees chipped in with three singles.

Ryan Czyzak, a 240-pound linebacker, met Swafford's fastball with a explosive crack that sent the ball into left centerfield for a two-run homer, his second of the season. Townsend had singled with two-away in the opening inning.

Sophomore Matt Mackiewicz accounted for two hits.

For the first time since the inception of the Mega Conference, Wayne finds itself out of the Red Division and in the White Division in the four tier conference.

Chronowski says he was surprised by the move, but said he would not comment on the realignment.

"The White Division has some excellent ball clubs," he added. "It isn't going to be an easy run for us."

The Wayne coach picks Redford Union to win it all in the White Division. But there are others who have fielded outstanding teams in the past including Dearborn Edsel Ford, Ypsilanti, Taylor Kennedy, Trenton, Allen Park that could make a race of it.

The Zebras will face Ypsilanti today in a makeup game at the Braves' Stadium.

Inexperienced Wayne off to slow start in track

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

If Wayne Memorial track coach Floyd Carter could convince members of the basketball team to come out for track, the Zebras would have no problems.

The basketball team had speed to burn.

Combined the hoop speed with the young and bold on the track team, and the veteran Wayne coach could have a contender.

However, without it, Wayne lost its Mega Conference opener to Wyandotte, 85-57.

"We lack depth and experience," said Carter afterwards. "And we have a lot of new athletes on this team. It's going to take time for them to mature. But we will be all-right once we mature."

> We lack depth and experience and we have a lot of new athletes on this team.
> - Floyd Carter

Scheduled to run natural rival, Westland John Glenn, on Tuesday, Wayne has today (Thursday) off to practice. The Zebras will be back on the track next Tuesday when they take on a traditional strong Dearborn team.

Against Wyandotte, Wayne sophomore sprinter Terrance Thomas picked up a pair of victories. He led the field in the 100-meter dash (11.4), then captured a first in the 200 in 23.0.

Wayne has some experience in the distance events with the return of miler, two-miler Andy Prieskorn and the Zebras should be able to pick up points with Joe Jinnett, a sprinter who will do well in the 400 and 800-meter events, if needed.

Senior Chris Lind is also a decent half-miler who will run the mile for the Zebras this season and junior Terry Turner is being groomed as a hurdler. Carter says the 6-2, 240 pound junior Brandon

Romulus moves to Gold Division

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

All that's gold doesn't sparkle.

Just ask Romulus baseball coach Don Foley, whose Eagles have been realigned in the Mega Conference, Gold Division.

Romulus was assigned to the fourth, and newest tier, of the four- division conference.

Though disappointed by the move, Foley said that he and his team will compete in any conference, against any team.

"The move surprised me," said Foley, "but like I told my kids. Baseball is baseball. We love the game and we'll come ready to play every game."

Belleville, a Red Division ball club, beat the Eagles in the season opener 5-1 in a conference crossover game.

Belleville erupted for three runs after scoring one in the first off of losing pitcher Derrick Plave to spoil Romulus' season opener. Plave, a righthander, worked four innings, gave up four runs and struck out six before reliever Jeff Brasili, a sophomore, took over. Brasili was tagged for three runs.

> We love the game and we'll come ready to play every game.
> - Don Foley

Myron Gray accounted for the Eagles first run of the season. He singled to lead off the third inning, stole second, advanced to third on an infield error and scored on Plave's base hit.

Romulus broke into the winning column its next time out, thanks to Jeremy Stevens' two-hitter against Dearborn Heights Robichaud. Stevens notched nine strikeouts, walked none and went the distance in the Eagles' debut in their new division.

Plave had an excellent day at the plate as he drilled two singles and also accounted for two RBIs. He also managed to throw out two Robichaud baserunners.

"We are basically a young team," Foley said. "We started three sophomores last year and they will help form the nucleus of this year's team."

Romulus also has the help of a foreign exchange student - Simon Woll, who is tasting his first experience playing baseball.

"He's doing quite well in the outfield and he also is learning how to hit," said Foley. "It should be interesting to see how he does."

Foley, who is in his ninth

Senior Ben Szczepanski is wielding a "hot bat" during the early phase of the 1998 campaign. Szczepanski hammered three hits and also collected three RBIs against Fordson. The power hitter also accounted for six runs as he blasted a homer and two doubled in the Rocks sweep of Ypsilanti. The Rocks routed the Braves 14-5 in the first game then came back to win a 16-15 slugfest in the nightcap.

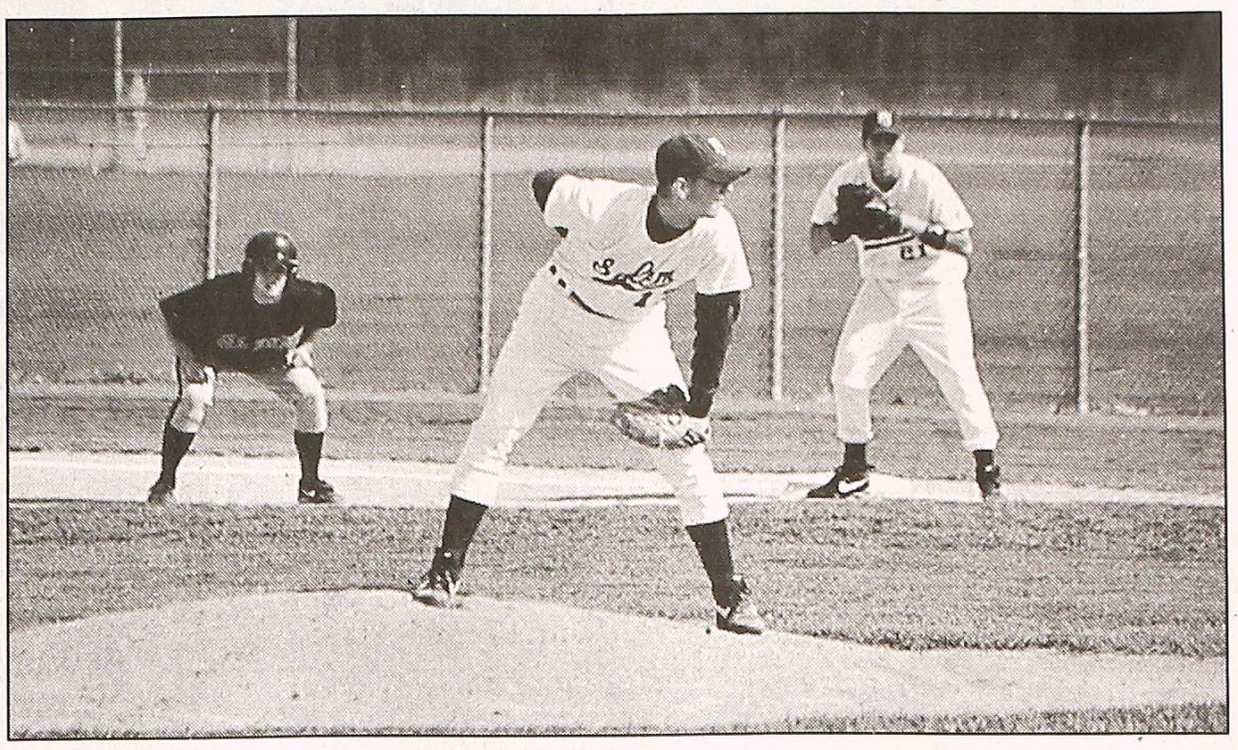
Wolverines to hold baseball tryouts

With a little bit of help from Mother Nature in the form of "stop the rain", the Wayne Wolverines may be able to conduct some tryouts to fill their roster for the 1998 baseball team.

The Wolverines compete in a Little Caesar's Traveling League and are looking for a few good men.

Team coaches said that they will hold tryouts April 23 and 24 beginning at 6 p;.m. at the Walz Quadroplex. The diamond is located at Venoy Road and Forest Street.

If you feel you have the talent or you need further information, contact coach Jeff Auer. Auer can be reached at 292-4175.



Berlinn's fall

Looking for the signal, Plymouth-Salem's Kurt Berlinn takes his time against Westland John Glenn in a crucial Lakes Division game for both teams. Berlinn also took the fall, losing a lopsided 9-2 decision against their Western Lakes divisional opponents who played their best game of the season. The Rock starter was tagged for a solo homer to Nick Hudson.

year as head coach, also has a solid catcher in Matt Martin. Steve Justice returns to first and will also catch while James Monat is an experienced outfielder and teammate Travis Hadyniak also returns to the lineup as an outfielder.

Aaron Brohl, a soph infielder, and Donald Watkins, a utilize man. also are important pluses.

Smiley has a lot of potential in the shot put.

Also look for Mario Long to develop into a top-notch pole vaulter.

Media One now accepting rotary complaints

It was easy for people with touch tone phones to complain to Media One but impossible for people with rotary phones.

That's because the cable TV company answered complaint calls with a recorded menu system.

This caused subscribers with rotary phones to bury the Westland Cable Commission with service complaints.

In response, Cable Commission Chairman Ed Turner complained to Maria Holmes, a Media One public relations worker, who has provided a fix.

According to Turner, the Media One recording will now automatically switch to live operator after it repeats the menu twice.

MICHIGAN COMMUNITY NEWSPAPERS

Nominations sought for moms

Nominations are now being sought for Michigan's oldest mothers to participate in the Ninth Annual Michigan Parades Into the 21st Century, "Salute to Michigan Mothers," announced the chairperson, Congresswoman Debbie Stabenow.

"Last year over 60,000 spectators along the parades route cheered and honored one of Michigan's most valued and vital resources--our mothers-as part of the annual Michigan Parades Into the 21st Century Parade at our State Capitol," explained Stabenow.

"We invite families throughout our state to nominate their mothers for this very special honor this year."

"Ten of Michigan's oldest mothers will be selected to ride in vintage cars in the parade," continued Stabenow. "The mothers will also be honored at a special brunch along with members of their families."

This year's parade will be held on Saturday, May 16--the weekend following Mother's Day in downtown Lansing at the Capitol.

The 1998 parade is the ninth of 11 being held to usher in the 21st Century in Michigan. One of the finest parades in the Midwest, this year's parade will highlight the eighties and feature the renowned Scottville Band. Drawn from communities throughout the state, the parade includes marching bands, veterans units, clowns, circus units, floats, and animals.

For "Salute to Michigan Mothers" applications please contact Debbie Stabenow, Parade Application, P.O. Box 4945, E. Lansing, MI 48826. Applications must be postmarked by May 1, 1998.

Aging conference slated for May 18-20

The Wayne State University Continuing Education Program on Issues in Aging will be held May 18-20 at the Management Education Center in Troy.

The conference provides multidisciplinary education and training in geriatrics and gerontology for health and human service professionals, paying special attention to the needs of a diverse aging population. Topics include:

May 18: Unlocking the Mysteries of Dementia

Participants will learn the latest findings from the acclaimed Nun Studies in which 700 nuns are the focus of studies relating to cognitive, physical and daily functioning abilities, and learn effective medical and psychosocial interventions for those with dementia. Workshops will teach how to reduce restraints in nursing homes, how to work with family car givers and how the brain affects depression.

May 19: Innovations in Clinical Gerontology Assessments and Interventions

This program will provide specific information on teaching compensatory strategies, effective family therapy and detection of dementia, depression and suicidal tendencies. Interventions with older problem drinkers and behavior management in the long-term care setting will be highlighted.

May 20: Advances and Innovations in Cancer Care for the Elderly

The day will focus on the interventions and innovations that are being made in the field of cancer care and research, with special attention to how cancer affects the elderly and their families.

The conference provides multidisciplinary education and training in geriatrics and gerontology for health and human service professionals.

Continuing education credits are available for doctors, nurses, nursing homes administrators, psychologists and social workers. One day registration for the program is $95; two-day registration is $180; and three-day registration is $265.

For more details, call Janice Freytag in the WSU School of Medicine Division of Continuing Medical Education at (313) 577-1180.

Senior Briefs

By AL POST

Wayne senior citizens are now being offered important law information guides each second Monday of the month from Judge Carolyn Archbold at the Senior Activity Center, 35000 Sims ave.

The monthly sessions are conducted from noon to 1:30 by Archbold and various guest speakers.

Those in attendance also will get a chance to view specific CNN "Burden of Proof" TV shows and then discuss issues raised during the program.

A seminar on hearing also will be held at the Wayne Senior Center at 10:30 a.m. April 29.

Barbara J. Douglas, a certified audiologist, will address issues such as: Does it seem that people are mumbling? Do you wonder if you have some hearing loss? Does your family complain that the TV is too loud? And exactly what is a hearing loss, anyway?

•

"Chalk and Cue" pool activities are now being offered from 1 to 3 p.m. every Friday at the Wayne Senior Activity Center, 35000 Sims ave., Wayne. Residents are urged to "drop in, play for fun or start a league. For more information call 721-7460.

•

Bob Birdsall will offer tips on how to create your own "Money Garden" at 1 p.m. each first Monday of the month at the Wayne Investors Club meeting at the Wayne Senior Activity Center.

Those in attendance will learn the techniques of reading the stock page, understanding money terms used on television and "how to plant your money to make it grow."

For more information call 721-7460.

Wayne Sometimes Travelers will be offered two major trips among others in coming weeks. The first will be to see comedian Bill Cosby on June 2 and to enjoy a dinner at one of Toledo's finest restaurants. Payment ($89) must be made by April 27 at the Wayne Senior Activity Center.

Then on May 11-13 area residents will travel to the Kentucky Bluegrass Country area (Lexington) for a tour of the Henry Clay estate, tour of the Wild Turkey Distillery and later the Kentucky Horse Park.

Visits also will be made to the Keeneland Race Track, Headley-Whitney Museum and various parts of Lexington itself.

Cost is $309 (double occupancy. For more information on either trip call 721-7460.

A team of health professionals from Oakwood Healthcare System will visit the Wayne Senior Activity Center at 7 p.m. May 18 to discuss "So this is menopause!"

The free seminar will answer questions such as: How important is hormone replacement? What is the connection between hormone replacement, heart disease and osteoporosis?

Pre-registration is required by calling 721-7460.

MICHIGAN COMMUNITY NEWSPAPERS

Rev. Humes will be honored

The Rev. Virgil Humes and his family will be honored by members and friends of the New Hope Missionary Baptist Church of Wayne this Sunday in commemoration of his eighth pastoral anniversary at the church.

The multi-faceted celebration for Pastor Humes will be based on the theme "God's Undershepherd Expanding the Base: Growing the Church Inside Out." The Biblical base comes from Matthew 28:18-20.

The guest speakers this weekend will be the Rev. Otis Carter of the Springhill Baptist Church of Inkster at 7:45 a.m., the Rev. Dr. Richard Smith of the Chapel Hill Baptist Church of Detroit at 10:45 a.m., and special guest speaker the Rev. Dr. Odell Jones of the Pleasant Grove Baptist Church of Detroit at 3 p.m.

Dinner will be served at 1:30 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus--Notre Dame Hall at 31500 Van Born road in Wayne.

Humes is recognized for both spiritual and civic endeavors and enjoys an exceptional reputation as a source of comfort and counseling aid throughout the Metro Detroit area.

He also is known for servicing as a mentor for the Romulus and Wayne- Westland schools and for being a pastoral care volunteer for Community Hospice Service.

Humes received bachelor degrees from Georgia Tech and Morehouse College, a master's degree from Central Michigan University and has done graduate studies at the Garrett Theological Seminary in Illinois and Ashland Theological Seminary in Ohio.

On behalf of the congregation Barbara Underwood extended congratulations to Humes on his eighth anniversary as pastor of the New Hope Missionary Baptist Church.

"May God continue to bless you in his service," Underwood said.

•

An annual spring rummage sale will be offered from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. April 25 at the Aldersgate United Methodist Church at 10000 Beech Daly (between Plymouth road and W. Chicago) in Redford.

•

The Rev. Brad Lewis of the Community United Methodist Church has received a letter from Michigan First Lady Michelle Engler stating that while the New Years Eve effort by local pastors did not win a finalist role, it should be commended.

Engler said she wanted to congratulate the Romulus Pastors' Association for their tradition of volunteerism. The effort by the pastors' group helped make the holiday season a great deal safer, she said.

The pastors and numerous volunteers treated Romulus high school youth to a safe and exciting New Years Eve setting at Romulus High School for fun and games.

"Your volunteer service set you apart from others," Engler wrote in the letter. "You have taken on the challenge of service and have made us all proud. It is efforts like yours that we see strengthening our cities, neighborhoods and schools throughout Michigan," she added.

Anti-casino efforts grow

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A week-long series of anti-casino meetings are being conducted this week by national anti-casino leader Tom Grey in the tri-county area.

The anti-casino effort to put the issue back on the Michigan ballot this November is facing a May 27 deadline to obtain about a quarter of a million voter signatures.

Grey, a United Methodist minister who has successfully battled casino efforts across the U.S., is telling Michigan leaders that voters in four states have approved casinos (including Michigan) while 35 have mixed such proposals.

John Lennon's Mercedes Benz to be sold

John and Yoko and their 1979 Mercedes Benz 300D.

John Lennon's 1979 Mercedes Benz 300D was purchased by the famous Beatle and Apple Records and was used to carry sound equipment and various guitars used by the famous Beatle for practice sessions. Mercedes Benz has verified the history of this vehicle and the car is also authenticated by Sotheby's in New York. The car is currently in excellent condition with only 13,000 actual miles. It also happens to be the very first Mercedes Diesel wagon to be delivered in North America. The current estimated value of this historically significant automobile stands at $100,000 - $125,000 and should continue to rise as the property of John Lennon becomes less available.

Another famous Beetle is making news at the Michigan International Auction, a new 1998 VW Beetle has been consigned to the auction. It will be the first one ever to be offered for sale at auction in the Midwest. Arguably the most recognized car in the world, the introduction of the "new" Beetle has created such an overwhelming public response, that orders for these already popular new models have far exceeded the available supply. This particular example is equipped with air conditioning optional power windows, cruise control, alloy wheels and will be sold to the highest bidder at No Reserve" regardless of price!

Introduced in 1997, the Plymouth Prowler with it's radical body design was an instant hit and like the new Beetle, demand is far greater than the available supply. Not only is the Prowler very unique in its design but it is also virtually impossible to purchase for those that want one. Many dealers have never even received one. The Michigan International Classic Car Auction will feature a brand new 1999 model. Estimates vary as to the value of this modern day hot rod. but by comparison, the very first Prowler ever to be offered for sale by public auction fetched $141000, at the Kruse sale in Auburn, Indiana. This particular model will be sold at "No Reserve" to the highest bidder regardless of price!

Some of the world's most influential, important and classic automobiles will be showcased in the exposition segment which is held in conjunction with the Spring Classic Car Auction. More than two million dollars worth of automobiles will be featured in the "Expo". This collection of cars are hand selected and must be of the highest quality standards to be even considered for the exposition. Displayed in a formal atmosphere, the Expo area not only gives the public a chance to view cars they seldom ever see. but also provides a method of quiet purchase for the most discriminating buyers as all Expo cars are for sale. Some of the cars in the exposition include a 1928 Mercedes Benz SS Roadster By Saoutchik, 1938 Hispano Suiza J12 Labourdette Sport Tourer and a 1932 Duesenberg Model J448 Derham Tourister.

Doors will open tomorrow at the Novi Expo Center at 4:00 PM, and Saturday and Sunday at 9:00 AM, with cars selling all three days. Tickets are available at the door, $8 a day or $12 for a three day pass. For more information call RM Classic Car Productions at (734) 459-3311.

Romulus graduating senior Rebecca Oleszkowicz -- armed with four years of French lessons -- recently took a personal tour of Paris, France without a translator.

Rebecca -- daughter of Romulus School Board President Julie Oleszkowicz -- was undaunted by the European travel experience. She stated afterward "I was able to communicate solely in French, which was very exciting. Paris was beautiful and I never wanted to come home."

But she has returned to Romulus with a massive memory bank as well as photos to document her experience.

Belleville area native Christian Wicklund has begun training as a Michigan State Trooper.

Wicklund, a member of the Michigan State Police Trooper Recruit Schooli, is expected to complete training on July 24 following training in fields of criminal law, criminal investigation, crime scene processing, patrol tactics, physical fitness, first aid, firearms and defensive tactics.

Following graduation, Wicklund will be assigned to one of the 64 state police posts in Michigan.

•

Deanna VanTassel, 59, of Wayne, won $900 on a recent Road to Riches TV program sponsored by the Michigan Lottery. A retired Farmer Jack cashier plans to use part of her winnings to purchase a new motor home and the rest to pay some bills.

VanTassel wore a lucky angel on the show. She uses her free time to swim, camp and make porcelain dolls and macrame' chairs.

•

Jerry Szweda, 32, of Romulus, won $800 as well as $250 in a confetti cash bonus on the same TV show.

Szweda said he brought two good luck charms with him that night. A Detroit Red Wings charm and his grandmother, who sat in the audience.

He expects to use part of his winnings for a vacation and the rest to pay some bills.

Bud Pell of Westland was among the 12 metropolitan Detroit volunteers who were honored on Tuesday for their outstanding community service at the United Way Community Services' celebration luncheon.

Pell was awarded the CorPLUS Award sponsored by the Junior League of Detroit that recognizes a retiree whose volunteer efforts exemplify the highest standards of excellence and generosity of service focused within the city of Detroit.

He was honored by the Detroit Zoological Society for his outstanding volunteer work as a carpenter that was put to good use at the Dinosauria exhibit, the Zoo Boo Halloween trail and Wild Lights area.

Pell also hasa volunteered as a coach with the Michigan Special Olympics, the National Ski Patrol, the Michigan Mountain Bike Association, the Friends of Maybury and the Independence Oaks Nature Center.

"Bud's commitment to serving others, his love for life, and his respect for nature and animal life, makes him a deserving winner of the CorPLUS award," Kenneth L. Way, honorary chairman of the Celebrate Volunteers event, said.

"We are fortunate to have people offer one of their most precious resources -- time -- to help others every year," Way added.

"By volunteering in many different capacities in schools, places of worship, civic and fraternal organizations, human service agencies and grass-roots community based groups, these men, women and youth improve the quality of life for the citizens of metropolitan Detroit," he concluded.

Meijer's honored for aiding the disabled

Meijer Inc. based in Grand Rapids recently was honored by the Detroit Medical Center's Rehabilitation Institute of Michigan for its involvement in the "Profiles in Triumph -- Turning Disabilities into Possibilities" concept.

Accepting the award for Meijer's was Teresa Downie -- fashion team leader at the Westland store.

Meijer's received its "Excellence in Community Awareness Award'' for its exceptional business and community-based organization that has provided positive opportunities for persons with disabilities.

The store chain was cited for becoming a "model corporation for integrating persons with disabilities into every aspect of its operation." It also was stated Meijer's uses models with disabilities in its advertising and hires and trains persons with disabilities for positions throughout its stores.

Meijer's also was praised for "going the extra mile by providing in- store assistance to shoppers with special needs, wider check-out lanes to accomodate wheelchairs and scootersa for customers with limited mobility."

The Rehabilitation Institute of Michigan is pleased to add its name to the growing list of organizations honoring Meijer for its outstanding commitment to the disabled community by presenting them with the award, a spokesman said.

Earlier Meijer has received awards from the President's Committee on Employment of Persons with Disabilities in 1996 and has twice been honored by the Michigan Business Leaders Network in 1990 and 1993.

> Meijer's also was praised for "going the extra mile..."

The ceremony conducted at Cobo Hall in Detroit was hosted by TV-4 meteorologist Chuck Gaidica and Ms. Wheelchair Michigan 1991 Cheryl Angelelli.

The Detroit Medical Center is the largest health care provider in southeast Michigan operating eight hospitals, two nursing homes and more than 100 outpatient centers.

It is the academic health system for Wayne State University and is affiliated with Barbara Ann Karmanos Center Institute.

The DMC also is the largest non-governmental employer in Detroit having 3,300 affiliated physicians and 3,000 licensed beds.

Jimmy offers new look inside and out for 1998

By KAREN STRONSKI
MCN Automotive Writer

Whether you prefer the spacious, refined GMC Jimmy four door or the sporty individualistic Jimmy two door model, it all comes out the same with its strength and roominess. The bold expressive new look of the 1998 Jimmy proves that this vehicle delivers versatility and comfort with a touch of class. The exterior new look includes a redesigned front bumper and fascia, new headlamps and a bold new grille.

The interior also has been refurbished. These features include a newly styled instrument panel with improved ergonomics for a more driver oriented cockpit feel. New next generation air bags and a new analog gauge cluster and back pit headlamp switch have also been added to the numerous changes for the 1998 GMC Jimmy.

While most utes force you to choose between room for your passengers and room for your all important stuff, this GMC generously accommodates them both. The first thing you notice is the almost endless room. The stretch out and relax kind of room. The I can fit all my stuff in here kind of room. Even with six passengers, the Jimmy four door has over 50 more cubic feet of space behind the rear seats. And with those rear seats folded down, you can stow over 85 cubic feet of various and assorted stuff.

Even with all of its room, you'll never think of it as just a utility vehicle. Before you can fully appreciate the spaciousness, you begin to feel the refreshment, the sophistication, the go ahead and spoil me luxury. From your head to your feet, you are comfortable in this vehicle. My test car has soft, supple leather seats that seemed to hug every curve of your body. And all of the cup holders and knobs/controls were just where you would put them.

The stereo in my test car was great, whether I was listening to a compact disc, or just playing the radio, the sound was crisp and clear. I should also tell you that basically everything that you could possibly want in your sport ute, comes standard. However, four wheel drive is an option.

While driving in this vehicle, you notice how quiet the ride is. You really don't hear any of the road noise. And it rides more like a luxury car than a sport ute. The handling is wonderful, and acceleration is no problem. You can cast your worries aside when merging on the freeway, this one has plenty of get up and go.

Jimmy's standard power plant is the enhanced Vortec 4300 V6 with a staggering 190 horsepower. Still, this highly refined V6 is quieter, smoother and more driver friendly than ever. As I stated earlier, the gas mileage was great, especially on the highway. In city driving gas mileage ranged from 16 to 18 miles per gallon, and on the highway it got a very impressive 26 miles to a gallon. The price of this fourwheel drive GMC Jimmy $25,000.

1998 GMC Jimmy

This vehicle is designed not merely to impress you, but to comfort you as well. Every feature seems carefully through out, to make your life a little easier, and make you feel safe. Jimmy surrounds you with a strong steel safety cage structure, and helps you stop with the assurance of four wheel antilock brakes. Everywhere you turn, you will appreciate the attention to detail.

Jimmy four door has up to eight cupholders so there's always one within reach. The available overhead console has storage areas for your wallet, sunglasses, and garage door opener. The available electrochromic rearview mirror adjusts itself to bright lights behind you to cut down glare, Jimmy's high seating position helps you see others, It's daytime running lights helps others see you. It even includes a compass readout. With Jimmy, you are definitely going in the right direction!

RETAIL MANAGER

GROWTH & STABILITY

Did you know that Cracker Barrel ...
- Recruits and Trains Regionally
- Offers a 5 day work week
- Has had 28 years of steady growth and stability
- Operates over 340 stores in more than 35 states
- Has quadrupled in size in 8 years

Not many companies can attest to this kind of growth and stability. But at Cracker Barrel Old Country Store, we take business and our management all the way to the top. That's because we offer what no other company can — great salaries, good hours, serious growth potential, and the opportunity to use your entrepreneurial skills.

All you need is a solid foundation of 2 or more years recent retail management experience! So forget the corporate ladder - grow your way up with a company that enriches your success.
